READINGS, NOTES, AND SLIDES

All readings assigned for each lecture, notes introducing the readings and topic for each lecture, as well as the lecture slides, can be downloaded in pdf format from the course website, at:

<http://www.psych.ubc.ca/~tchandy/>

Slides for each lecture will be provided as individual files. Whenever possible I will post each lectures' slides prior to class, but in many cases slides may not be posted until shortly after lecture. Readings for the course consists of short media articles from The New York Times. All articles and notes for Part 1 of the course (Lectures 1-8) are currently available on the website as a single, all-inclusive file. The file name is 309a_Readings_Part1.pdf. All articles and notes for Part 2 of the course will be posted for download following Exam 1 (309a_Readings_Part2.pdf), and all articles and notes for Part 3 will be posted following Exam 2 (309a_Readings_Part3.pdf).

EXAMS

There are three non-cumulative exams for the course. Each exam will be worth 60 points. Dates for the exams can be found on the lecture schedule below. The first two exams will take place during the regularly-scheduled lecture time. The third exam will take place during the final exam period at the end of the term, with the time, date, and location TBA.

The following points should be noted regarding exams:

1. Each exam will consist of 10-14 multiple choice and 10-14 short answer questions.
2. For each exam, you are required to bring a photo ID.
3. Exams will begin 5 minutes after the start of the class period.
4. No extra time will be given to those who are late for an exam.
5. Make-up exams will only be considered for students facing exceptional emergency circumstances that are responsibly communicated to the instructor in a timely manner. The format of any make-up exam granted will be at my discretion.
6. Cheating on exams will not be tolerated. Any student found cheating will get a "0" for that exam. Please see the UBC Calendar for information regarding academic offences and penalties.
7. UBC accommodates students whose religious obligations conflict with attendance or completing scheduled examinations. Please let me know by email no later than Thursday, January 20 if you will require any accommodation on these grounds. Students who plan to be absent for varsity athletics, family obligations, or other similar commitments cannot assume they will be accommodated, and should discuss their commitments with the instructor before the drop date.
8. Exam marks will be posted on the course website as soon as scoring is complete, but exams will not be handed back. However, students have the right to view their marked examinations with their TA, providing they apply to do so within one month of receiving their final grades. This review is for pedagogic purposes. The examination remains the property of the university.

TERM MARKS

Marks for the term will be based on a total of 180 points (3 exams x 60 points each). However, if the grade distribution for the final course marks fails to meet the Psychology Department's norms, scaling will be applied to final course marks. For details on scaling course marks, please see the next section of the syllabus.

DEPARTMENT SCALING POLICY

In order to reduce grade inflation and maintain equity across multiple course sections, all psychology courses are required to comply with departmental norms regarding grade distributions for final course marks. According to departmental norms, the mean course mark in a 300-level class is 70 for a good class, 68 for an average class, and 66 for a weak class, with a standard deviation of 13. Final course marks may be scaled up or down as necessary by the professor or department in order to comply with these norms.

For official UBC policy on grade scaling, please see:

<http://students.ubc.ca/calendar/index.cfm?tree=3,42,96,0>

CONTACTING THE INSTRUCTOR

After Class: On most days I am available for brief questions immediately following the lecture.

Office Visits: Because many students' schedules inevitably conflict with a set weekly office hour, all office meetings for this course will be by appointment only. Scheduling must be done in advance via email.

Email: To avoid having your emails automatically deleted as spam, the subject header must read "Psych 309." The answers to questions regarding lecture/reading content may often be useful for the entire class to hear. As a consequence, questions may be answered in class at the beginning of lecture rather than via email. Please also note that while I try to be responsive to student emails, there are limits that must be put in place when dealing with large classes. Unfortunately, in a large lecture course I can not respond to students who generate excessive/frequent emails or who generate long lists of questions, as in the name of fairness it would be impossible for me to provide this level of service to all students.

Finally, in order to promote good problem solving skills, I will deduct 1 point from a student's final course mark for each email question that can be answered by consulting this syllabus, the Department of Psychology web page, and/or the UBC web page. Examples of such questions would be When is the next exam?, Where and when is the final? and What are the assigned readings for the next exam?

OUTSIDE RESOURCES

If you run into trouble and need information on effective studying, preparing for exams, how to take notes, or manage your academic time, free workshops and advice are available from the Student Resources Center, which can be reached through the School and College Liaison Office at 822-4319.
